Search Pressed For Witnesses In Labor Probe

5 Missing, Said to be 'On the Lam'; Hoffa Also May Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal marshals pressed their search today for five witnesses sought by the Senate Rackets Investigating committee. Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said the five "are on the lam."

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said staff aides and the U.S. marshal's office in New York have been unable to locate any of the five, wanted as witnesses in an inquiry into New York labor rackets.

Kennedy named only two of those sought: Benny (The Bug) Ross, a former Teamsters Union organizer, and Leonard Geiger, vice president of Joint Council 16, governing body of the Teamsters' 125,000 members in New York.

The committee, meanwhile, prepared to call some top international Teamsters officials — including the union's Midwest boss, James R. Hoffa — for questioning about activities in New York.

Thomas L. Hickey, a Teamsters vice president, testified Friday that Hoffa, heir-apparent to retiring Teamsters President Dave Beck, originated the idea of forming phantom Teamsters locals to vote in the union's New York council election in 1956.

Hickey and another witness, Martin Lacey, said the purpose of the phantom locals was to get additional votes to elect John J. O'Rourke president of the council, and thus place it under Hoffa's control.

Tear Gas Used To Flush Out Killer Suspect

LAKE GEORGE, Mich. (AP) — A retired factory worker was pulled from his tear-gas filled cottage here Friday night by state police who sought him in the fatal shooting of a drinking companion.

Troopers laid siege to the house after Frank Lewis, 71, ignored their orders to come out. The body of Hugh Nugent, 62, of Prospect Park, N. J., shot dead after an argument with Lewis, lay in front of the house during the siege.

Lewis and his wife Nellie, 70, bought a cottage on Lake George about three-fourths of a mile from this Clare County community May 31.

The former Detroit met Nugent Friday when the New Jersey man arrived at a nearby cottage for a weekend of fishing.

Nugent invited Lewis over for a drink. About 8 p. m. the two men went over to the Lewis cottage to get Lewis' wife and take her into town for dinner.

They started to drive to Harrison, about 15 miles from here, but abruptly changed their mind and returned to the cottage.

State police said the quarrel followed after the two men went alone into the Lewis home. Shirk said Nugent left and started walking toward his own cottage, when Lewis opened fire with a .38 revolver. Nugent was hit three times, once in the left arm, once in the left hip and once in the head.

Scheduled for Midnight Tonight

Dairymen's Group May Force Strike

By GORDON ARNDT

At a meeting of the Youngstown District of the Ohio Dairy Farmers Bargaining Association Friday night, a motion was passed by those present to support the Cleveland-Canton-Akron districts of the association by withholding milk from dairies only if the district dairies ship milk to Cleveland markets.

Leonard Ridzon of New Springfield, an official representative of the association for the Youngstown district, said that the dairies in the Youngstown district would be notified of the association's action.

The strike is scheduled for midnight tonight.

The association, which is headed by Joseph Brown of Jefferson, had met in an attempt to press demands for a $5.50 price on Class I milk and $4 for all other classes.

Vote Is 17 To 4

Some 400 association members were expected at the meeting yet when it came to voting on the motion, the vote was only 17 to 4 in favor. An immediate poll showed that of the 21 persons voting, only 16 belonged to the O.D.F.B.A.

The meeting was held at the Damascus Auction barn, one mile south of Damascus. Although Ridzon had expected some 400 district dairymen only 55 to 60 persons showed up.

The consensus of those present seemed to show that they were in favor of doing something about getting a $5 blend price for a hundredweight of milk. However, heated tempers and outspoken phrases made their way into the discussion.

M. L. Hans, a Damascus contractor, brought up the point that the association should negotiate with representatives of the dairies but Ridzon was quick to point out that a mutual time and place for meetings has been quite difficult.

At one time during the meeting, Hans was told he would be insulted anytime and that he shouldn't be talking so much because he is a contractor and not a dairyman.

Robert List, Trumbull County chairman of the association from Bristolville, pointed out that Class I and Class III milk prices are lower in the other three districts compared to this district's prices.

Class I milk consists of raw milk that is bottled while Class II milk is manufactured milk used for cheese, ice cream, coffee cream and chocolate milk. Class III milk is powdered milk that may be also sweetened and condensed.

Terms Move a Boycott

Ridzon said the strike deadline for the other three districts is midnight tonight. He said that milk produced in this district is shipped to Youngstown. He said the members were not attempting to "strike" as he put it, but to "boycott" or "withhold" milk from district dairies unless they agreed to the $5.50 price for Class I and $4 for the other classes of milk.

The Youngstown district runs north to Jefferson, south to East Liverpool, east to the Pennsylvania state line and west to Alliance.

Several members present pointed out that labor gets what they want by striking so why shouldn't farmers. One man, who claimed he has been a milk producer for 35 years, said there has been no great increase in the price of milk over that time. Others quoted figures indicating that the price of milk has gone up from 30 to 40 cents in the past 12 years while gasoline has gone up as much as 100 per cent and tractors, 300 per cent.

The meeting which was scheduled for midnight tonight, was adjourned.

GOP Stands Pat For Strong Bill On Civil Rights

Martin, Ike Confer; Okay of Compromise Measure Indicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Martin (R-Mass) said after a talk with President Eisenhower today that Republicans are "still standing pat" for a stronger civil rights bill than that being pushed by House Democrats.

The general feeling at the Capitol, however, was that the House and probably the Senate would approve next week a compromise bill embodying a modified jury trial amendment being sponsored by Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.).

Martin, the House GOP leader, had breakfast with Eisenhower at the White House and later told reporters:

"We are still standing pat for the type of bill the President wants to give adequate protection to every single American who wants to vote."

Asked whether the amendment proposed by Celler gives such adequate protection, Martin, replied:

"I don't think that's the kind of bill the President wants."

The House passed a bill closely tailored to Eisenhower's recommendations. The Senate revised it substantially. One change was the addition of a requirement for jury trials in all federal contempt of court cases.

Eisenhower has objected strenuously to that provision.

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has proposed that the jury trial provision be limited to cases involving voting rights.

Democrats tentatively scheduled House action on the bill next Thursday.

House acceptance of the Senate bill, with a House amendment limiting the jury trial proviso to voting rights cases only, would

America Calls Russia's Hand On Broadcasts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has challenged Russia to put up or shut up on the issue of exchanging broadcasts.

The State Department, in a note announced Friday, proposed a swap of delegations of radio and television experts next month to make technical studies preliminary to negotiating a possible schedule of broadcasts.

The issue has figured in discussions between Moscow and Washington since the summit conference and the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in 1955.

MAHONING COUNTY DEPUTIES hustle away with a suspect, as curious spectators look on, following the $31,300 holdup of the Boardman Plaza branch of the Mahoning National Bank Friday. The suspect, who was not identified by bank employees as one of the two masked gunmen who robbed them, was held for questioning on other charges.

Irving Langmuir, Scientist, Dies

Artificial Rainmaker, 76, Won Nobel Prize

FALMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Rainmaker Irving Langmuir, one of the scientific greats of the 20th century, died here Friday. He was 76.

Dr. Langmuir was vacationing on Cape Cod when he suffered a heart attack Wednesday.

Langmuir won many scientific honors, including the Nobel prize in chemistry in 1932. Besides pioneering in artificial rainmaking, he developed techniques that led to brighter and cheaper electric lighting and that helped make modern radio and television broadcasting possible.

He was a member of the General Electric Co. research staff for 40 years and continued as consultant to that company after retiring in 1950. His home was in Schenectady, N. Y.

Langmuir developed atomic hydrogen welding and a smoke-screen generator for military use. The artificial rainmaking technique, developed with two other scientists, consisted of seeding clouds with dry ice or silver iodide, or dropping water into certain types of clouds to cause rainfall by chain reaction.

In 1909, he began research to determine why light bulbs of that day darkened, thus cutting efficiency and wasting electricity.

The work led to the invention of the nitrogen-filled electric light bulb, which does not darken.

Policemen Save Major From Angry Mexicans

MAZATLAN, Mexico (AP) — Maj. Robert Claire Taylor of Akron, Ohio, is in jail here after police saved him from an angry crowd Thursday. He is being held for investigation of an accident that killed an 8-year-old boy.

Police said a car driven by the Army officer, who was returning to Tucson, Ariz., with his wife Margaret after a vacation in Guadalupe, accidentally struck Jose Urquiza as it neared the village of Piaxtla near here.

The boy died instantly and his parents, joined by neighbors, seized Taylor. State police saved him from hanging and brought him to the Mazatlan jail.

'Not Unexpected,' Boardman Chief Says

By JOSEPH KUPKA

"We've been expecting it for a long time."

That was the comment Don Robinson, chief constable of Boardman Township, made following the robbery of the Boardman Plaza branch of the Mahoning National Bank shortly before noon Friday.

Robinson said the heavily populated township simply does not have enough policemen to do an adequate job. He said the force numbers seven men, but most of the personnel work only part-time.

ROBINSON WAS THE FIRST police officer to reach the bank after the holdup. He said his office, 5105 Market St. in Boardman, received notice of the robbery from Robert A. Macauley, a bank teller, at 11:55 a. m.

The only police officer on duty at the time, Robinson said he arrived at the bank at 11:59 a. m. from his office, which is about two miles away.

According to Robinson, bank employees and witnesses told him the bandits sped west on Route 224 in a two-tone green car bearing either Pennsylvania or New York license plates with the numbers "321" or "123." Witnesses said the getaway car was either a 1949 or 1950 model. Other accounts said the auto may have been as late as a model as a 1952.

ROBINSON SAID that if the bank had had an American District Telegraph alarm system, the bandits might have been captured in the plaza parking lot.

Policemen — including state highway patrolmen from the Canfield, Lisbon and other precincts, FBI agents and Mahoning County Sheriff Paul J. Langley and his deputies, combed the area for the robbers' car Friday afternoon, but no definite clues were uncovered.

The two suspects, obviously unnerved by the incident, were taken to the bank for identification, but were definitely not the bandits. Although nervous after the ordeal, the two men joked with state patrolmen after the handcuffs were taken off. It seems the two were just going home after picking corn in North Lima.

An FBI agent and Sheriff Langley yesterday afternoon questioned a Canfield youth who may have

Girl, 17, Shot By Police in Wild Chase

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 17-year-old blonde, shot by police at the end of a wild 10-mile automobile chase, recuperated in a hospital today while authorities totaled up the charges against her.

Shirley Ann Dickel of Lancaster, Pa., was reported in good condition. Doctors said the bullet which hit her had split, part lodging in the upper shoulder and part in the armpit.

The chase started Friday after the girl was stopped in Baltimore County for speeding. She followed a patrol car to the police station, but then stepped on the gas and sped away.

Two police cars hit her red convertible, but she kept going. A mounted policeman spurred his horse back into the stable when she barreled past. About 15 police cars and motorcycles were in pursuit.

When she reached Pratt Street, near the harbor, motorcycle patrolman Earl Gabel pulled alongside and shot at the girl twice. Wounded, she pulled over, stopped and calmly lit a cigarette and awaited arrest.

The girl said she was running away from home to Miami because her father scolded her Thursday night for coming home late.

Her father, Erishman Dickel, told police by telephone: "She's a good girl. I didn't know anything about her running away from home."

Elude Police After Fleeing With $31,300

Two Gunmen Said to Have Driven Car With Penna. Plates

Two gunmen who robbed the Boardman Plaza branch of the Mahoning National Bank in near-by Boardman during the noon rush hour Friday still eluded police today.

Bank officials said following the check that the holdup loot totaled $31,300.

An ex-convict with a long criminal record was arrested by Mahoning County Sheriff Paul J. Langley late yesterday, but bank employees said he was not involved in the robbery.

The man was arrested in the yard at a relative's home at Canfield, about six miles from Boardman. Two guns were found in his car, the sheriff said.

The robbers fled in a two-tone green car, which has not been found. The car reportedly bore Pennsylvania license plates.

20 Customers Were In Bank

About 20 customers and eight employees were in the bank when the gunmen entered. One had a silk stocking over his face and both were armed with what were believed to be .38 caliber revolvers.

The masked robber stood at the door while his companion forced bank employees to stuff the contents of cash drawers at two tellers' windows into a laundry bag. The gunman shouted to the customers and employees:

"Don't move and no one will get hurt."

His companion walked the length of the bank, dropped a black laundry bag beside a teller's window, threw another bag over the railing and ordered, "Fill 'em up."

The gunman then jumped over the railing, pointed his gun at another teller, Miss Jackie Summers, and ordered her to start filling the bag.

When she moved too slowly to satisfy him, the gunman started grabbing money and stuffing it into the bag.

Stands Guard At Door

Meanwhile, the masked man stood by the door, warning customers against making any outcry. Employees described one gunman as being about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, heavily built with a scar on the lower part of his face. He was wearing a gray suit and hat. The other was about 6 feet tall, weighed about 190 pounds and wore a brown hat.

Emmanuel Lutherans Hire Architect on Church Plans

Arthur L. Marisoff of New Brighton, Pa., has been engaged as architect for the proposed building program of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

The church congregation approved the move to hire Marisoff as church architect following a seven-month study, begun in January, of the needs of the church in expanded facilities and programs.

The studies were compiled by nine working and study committees in the church and submitted to the church council in July. Council recommended the contemplated program for adoption to the congregation.

The program is one which church officials say includes the maximum needs of the church in the future, and while it has been accepted in its entirety will not be carried out at the present time beyond the financial resources available.

The Wells fund-raising campaign organization of Chicago will begin Sept. 3 to raise an additional $150,000, in addition to the existing approximately $45,000 in church funds. When the campaign is carried the congregation's budget for a year will be included. Rev. R. D. Freseman is the pastor.

Over 100 students are expected to enroll in the institute's classes this year, which will begin Sept. 10. The school includes grades one through twelve, with the addition of the two years college training.

Instructors added to the staff this year include Rev. Delmar Kaufman and Rev. George Bowen, who will teach college courses, and Miss Helen Drushel who will join the junior high department.

Erection this summer of a home for Rev. Dunn, school director, and his family, will allow additional room for the dormitory students who will live in the quarters vacated by the Dunn family.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 10:10—"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

I could never think of the Christian life as a dull affair. Christ's chief aim for all of us is that we have a full life, an abundant life, a life that overflows. He makes this possible by giving the man of faith a Divine "inflow". His cleansing and indwelling Spirit becomes a "well of water springing up into everlasting life." In this way, life is truly creative and refreshing. Without such Divine resources, life becomes stale—a Dead Sea.

A life that overflows is bounded by the disciplines of dedication. It enjoys liberty bounded by loyalty, freedom through fidelity, rights sustained by responsibilities, and Divine power within the framework of a Divine purpose. Through a disciplined prayer life, a devoted study of the Bible, a directed practice of the Presence, and a dedicated Christian service, a life is made to overflow.

Such living moves out to bless others. It becomes health to the parched and thirsty souls. It makes green pastures out of deserts and productive soil out of barren wastes. At its touch, lifeless lands blossom like the rose:

Truly, Jesus came to give us a Life that Overflows.

You Can't Fight a Windmill

A short time ago I had occasion to talk with a friend whom I had not seen for more than a year. I knew this man had been working himself out of some serious difficulties, both in his private life and in his business. As is often the case, the two had come along together.

A number of his friends had tried to help him, but in the beginning he would not listen to them or accept their assistance; he was too proud, too strong-willed, and secretly bitter.

He floundered along in his struggle, flip-flopping from good days to bad. In time everyone, including his family, was ready to admit there was little or nothing that could be done for him.

THEN, ALMOST miraculously, he changed. He found a job where his unusual skills were needed, and he stuck with it. He picked up the threads of his family life and pieced them together again. He resumed contact with friends of better days. And for the first time in years he took his church affiliation seriously.

"What happened to bring this about?" I asked.

"I don't exactly know," he replied. "But one day I was trying to figure out why I was wrong, why it was that I couldn't seem to get back on the right track."

"I was really snowed under by trouble, just about every kind of trouble you can imagine. I was fighting off one, then another, and still another would hit me, and I found myself trying to fight them all at once."

"ALL OF A SUDDEN the thought came to me: 'Give up! Give yourself over completely to your problems!'"

"I made up my mind to take the punishment that was coming to me," he continued; "to accept the inevitable, to admit this thing was bigger than I could handle."

"Things started to change that very day," he said, "and they've been getting better ever since."

"You know," he added, "I wish more people could learn that you can't fight a windmill; you'll come off second best every time!"

"When problems are coming to you from every direction, stand back away from them, make room for God to move in and take over. It's surprising what He can do if you give in to Him and give Him a chance."

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Your Most Faithful Friend

I made a speech at a convention held at the Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., recently. They have a couple of beautiful golf courses there, and most of the convention visitors take the opportunity to play as often as they can while at the Greenbrier.

On this particular occasion I was having breakfast in the charming dining room with Fred Fuller, a college friend, who is now a distinguished lawyer. I had not seen him in some years for a good talk. People kept coming up to our table and congratulating him on his game of the day before, so I assumed that he had played very well indeed.

He looked healthy, strong and vigorous, filled with enthusiasm and zest for life.

"Fred," I said, "I'd heard you were sick, but this doesn't sound like it. And you certainly don't look sick to me."

"I WAS SICK, THOUGH," he said. "I was successfully operated on for cancer. I had good physicians and a great surgeon and they got it all out. Just before coming here, I had my final five-year check-up and they tell me all is well. Wonderful, isn't it?"

"You must have had quite a few battles of the spirit to fight during those long years," I said.

"Yes," he answered. "It was a matter of life and death. But I fought the battles effectively, for I had another Physician to help, and, believe me, there is great skill and healing in His hands. Also, I found that He is more than a Physician; He is a Friend, and this Friend stayed with me and brought me through." Then he added, "My doctor gave me something which has helped a lot. Perhaps you would be interested in it."

Fred took a folded slip of paper from his wallet and gave it to me. It read:

1. CONSERVE YOUR ENERGY. Don't race your motor, don't rush. Work, eat and play leisurely.

2. Do not hesitate to refuse taking on unimportant, burdensome tasks.

3. Stay calm and serene. Do not fret or worry or allow yourself to become unnecessarily fraught with emotion.

4. The past is past. Do your best today and let it go at that. Do not be apprehensive about tomorrow; it will take care of itself. Worries never come to pass.

5. Put your trust in God and forget all fear. He has a plan for you. So who can be against you.

HE TOOK THE PAPER BACK from me, carefully replaced it in his wallet and leaned across the table toward me. "Do you remember when we were boys back in Ohio? They taught us to love Jesus Christ and try to live the way He wants us to live and put our faith in Him. Well, I want to tell you, Norman, that God is the answer. He has given me life."

I knew that if my friend had had to die, he would have done it with greatness. But the Lord chose to give him life. And my friend knew where this gift of life had come from. It had come from his earthly and his spiritual Physician — from his Friend, Jesus Christ — from God.

God is indeed your most faithful friend. Open your mind and take Him in: Open your heart and receive Him; and live with vitality, power, energy and useful service all the days of your life.

Graham Gives Advice On Love, Marriage

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham cited Biblical passage Friday night to show it is "perfectly natural for young people to have love affairs."

At the same time he urged teenagers to resist temptation and remain pure until marriage.

Graham addressed 18,500 persons in Madison Square Garden in another sermon dealing with juvenile problems. Many in the audience were teenagers.

The evangelist pointed out that the Bible says Jacob courted Rachel for seven years and Isaac sought the advice of his parents when he wooed Rebecca.

Graham told his New York Crusade audience that there is nothing sinful about sex as part of God's plan. But, he added: "It is sinful to have sexual thoughts dominate your mind."

Man Ordered to Give Back Wife's Clothes

CHICAGO (AP)—A suburban Evanston woman told a circuit court judge Friday that her estranged husband has been rationing her clothes.

Mrs. Sammie Reiling, 21, told the judge, through her attorney, that her husband, Harry, 32, let her take only the clothes she was wearing when she left him July 24 and has since permitted her only one change of garments.

She contended Reiling said this would make her less attractive to other men.

Judge B. Fain Tucker ruled that Reiling must return all her clothing. Mrs. Reiling has filed suit for divorce charging cruelty.

MY FRIEND

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he used to say people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks for your good fortune."

The Church, he used to say, had acted as a balance wheel for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times. Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people, who in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to the oncoming generations. I hope I can impress Grandpa Brown's Faith and Wisdom upon others as I was impressed by him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Something Of Value

Senate investigators under Tennessee's Kefauver may bring nothing of importance to light in their probe into prices.

But if they were to do nothing but raise the question of how prices are decided they would have contributed something of value.

To be specific, they would have offset an impression that has been hammered methodically into popular understanding of inflation—that pricing is automatic and inevitable; that price-raising cannot be slowed down by anything within the power of mankind; that it is some kind of an immutable law of economics.

The truth is now what it always has been about prices that rise too fast, which is a tactical way of saying that the purchasing power of the dollar is winding too fast.

Consumers retain ultimate control over dollar-dwindling and price-puffing. When they start to hold on to dwindling dollars because they cannot keep up with puffing prices, there is automatic and inevitable deflation.

Deflation is a word that largely has passed out of style since the war boom began in 1940. But it is still in the language.

The purchasing power of the dollar dwindled by 1920 to half what it had been before World War I. It now is about half what it was before World War II. This may be an omen of readjustment on the way.

Inflation is not automatic, not inevitable. It can be slowed down by consumers, who have the ultimate power over prices. There is no immutable law of economics which says prices must always go up — and if the Kefauver investigators do nothing but bring this to attention they will have justified their appropriation.

Limited Access

J. Edgar Hoover has made such a strong case against letting outsiders see FBI files that Congress will give him whatever fences he needs to protect his material and its sources. The files will not be thrown wide open.

But it continues to be important to keep the record straight on a matter that is being grievously twisted. The Supreme Case ruling which exposed the FBI files to possible inspection under some circumstances was not intended to be an attack on Mr. Hoover or his bureau.

It was intended to be protection for any citizen who must protect himself on charges based on information in FBI files. The defendant has the right to know what information caused him to be accused. Otherwise, the defendant would be unable to prepare an adequate defense.

The only way to appraise such a ruling is to imagine that you are the defendant.

In the specific case on which the Supreme Court ruled, the defendant was a labor union official named Jencks charged with falsely signing an affidavit that he was not a member of the Communist party in a certain year. Jencks did not know on what information he was being accused. As it turned out, some of the information came from Harvey Matusow, later to become a confessed perjurer.

Even a suspected Communist has a right to know about an odd ball like Matusow. There always is the remote possibility that some of the people who thought Matusow was wonderful when he was making up stories might be put in a corner themselves some day by an informant capable of making up stories for a fee.

The rights of a U.S. citizen in that event would be more sacrosanct than the files of the FBI.

Where Are the Shortages?

No one ever is heard asking any more, "Do you think we will have inflation?" That much progress has been made. Inflation is here.

The question now is, "What can be done to stop inflation?"

And whenever someone goes into the harangue that inflation is too much money chasing too few goods and therefore we must have more goods or less money, the thing looks hopeless.

Something is wrong somewhere with the idea that this is a text-book inflation in which goods are too scarce and money is too plentiful.

Before that idea will hold water, someone must produce examples of goods being in scarce supply.

There are no shortages of agricultural commodities.

There are no shortages of manufactured goods.

There are no shortages of services.

There is no shortage of housing peculiar to anything happening in 1957, although there continues to be a chronic shortage of first-class housing. Moreover, as far as housing is concerned, the charge is being made that too little money, not too much money, is the thing to worry about.

If this is a text-book kind of inflation, those who are looking at it that way will have to produce text-book examples. They will be put to it to find any. Instead of shortages of things to buy, there are surpluses. Instead of money to burn, the problem of the ordinary consumer is to find enough money to pay the price of goods in such abundant supply that inventory is plugging up production lines.

Same Old Refrain

Soviets Again Show True Colors on Disarmament

The government of the Soviet Union has again demonstrated its faithlessness. It has revealed itself as the perpetrator of the biggest hoax of the age — professing an alleged willingness to make a disarmament agreement when the fact is the Soviets never sincerely intended to consummate any such pact.

What the Soviets have done is to spread throughout the world a propaganda that they want to disarm but the plot really is to disarm the West while maintaining intact the strategic strength of the Moscow empire, including its slave states in the Balkans.

Announcement in London by the Soviet spokesman that there can be no first step in a disarmament program without some withdrawal of foreign forces from Germany and a start toward the elimination of overseas military bases of the Western allies is transparently the same old Communist game.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS now Moscow has sought to break up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and has refused to agree to any steps looking toward the unification of East and West Germany.

Now the Communists have been forced into the open. Their real demands are disclosed at last and these are the same as always.

They constitute a palpable effort to get American forces and weapons out of Europe so as to leave the weaker democracies of the West at the mercy of the conventional armies of the Soviet Union, which are the largest in the world today.

The Soviet government has deluded many people in the United States and elsewhere with the argument that nuclear tests must be halted and will be in some sort of disarmament agreement.

But it is evident now that the Moscov regime isn't ready to ban its own tests and merely wants to exert pressure on the West to stop its tests, ban all nuclear weapons, large and small, and send American troops back to the United States.

Experience in two world wars has shown that American troops cannot get to Europe except after a lapse of months, and bases cannot be equipped overnight.

THE WISDOM of the concept behind NATO is that America stays in Europe and military bases are kept in a high state of readiness so our planes will be able to retaliate if the Soviets engage in any sudden aggression.

It is apparent now that Harold Stassen was a bit too optimistic in his impressions of what the Russians were ready to do, but he is not the only one in the American government who thought there was no harm in testing out Soviet intentions to the fullest.

Today the world knows that Moscow wants to bargain each step of the way and that already her rulers have flatly laid down the proposition that there can be no unification of Germany unless NATO is demolished and American troops go home.

Just what effect the sudden turn in the London Conference will have on America's plans for maintaining present armament levels is too early to appraise.

THE DEPARTMENT of Defense has lately been making some very important economies based on the assumption that America's allies will provide certain forces overseas and that missiles and nuclear weapons stored there will render unnecessary the maintenance of as large a standing army as this country has been supporting these last few years.

Some of the cuts in the federal budget have been predicted on the belief that there is an easing of tension involved somehow as a result of the very fact that disarmament talks have been going on. But now that it is plain that the talks aren't going to get anywhere—at least not in the foreseeable future—it may be that defense planning will have to be revised.

ANYWAY, while disarmament discussions may drag on for years, developments in the last 48 hours indicate that nothing tangible now may be expected for a long, long time and that the only way to prevent war is to keep America and its allies fully armed.

This ought to convince many hesitant members of Congress of the great importance of the pending legislation which must provide adequate funds for the mutual aid program.

If a special session of Congress has to be called, the President may find the issue important enough to take it to the country soon in the hope of mobilizing public opinion in favor of a strengthened defense program.

(Substituting for Truman Twill)

(Editor's Note: Some of Truman Twill's readers have written vacation columns for him this year. Today's essayist is a steelworker.)

On being invited to contribute an article for Truman Twill's column, we at first felt like declining. The thought of appearing in a column syndicated in newspapers covering several states was frightening. Indeed, the thought of having one's literary offering brought under the spotlight before a strange and discerning circle of readers, is awe-stricken.

On second thought, particularly on remembering an old rule in a handbook of English composition, we decided to accept. This cheering rule advised that, in order to divert the reader's attention from the writer or his style, the writer should unobscure himself on a subject very near and dear to the reader's heart.

We believe this rule is sound; in fact, we believe it accounts for the popularity of Twill's column. When we read him, we do not think of him or his style, but think only of our own hopes, aspirations, or experiences which we feel but cannot express; but which he voices for us.

So, keeping this rule in mind, we shall say a few words on a subject which, for many a reader, was, is, and always will be of perennial interest — American Indians — specifically Ohio Indians who were responsible for the origin of the term "Indian summer."

This term, coined by the Scotch-Irish in western Pennsylvania, was in common use there by 1770. But the term then, to the settlers, did not mean what it means today.

For us, it means a spell of summery days — lazy, smoky days, when time apparently comes to a standstill, and when nature recesses to play hooky, in order to enjoy the calm which precedes the winter blasts.

For the settlers in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, the period of summery weather meant that the Indians would make a last raid before winter set in.

They invariably made this final, and therefore the most brutal raid in the hope of fulfilling their vow to exterminate the whites who had pushed them off one happy hunting ground after another.

Hence, to effect this extermination, they not only butchered the settlers, but also burned their homes and barns, so as to deprive them of shelter and livelihood.

The Scotch-Irish — a hardy, pugnacious lot to whom a fight was not a means to an end but an end in itself — worked out a means whereby they successfully resisted the raids during the summer.

They built forts into which they moved their families early in spring, and in which they lived until the first fall of snow. During summer, they went out from these forts in armed parties to their fields; and, after placing sentinels, cultivated their crops.

"With the coming of the first snow," says Fisher in his book, "The Making of Pennsylvania," "each family returned to its home. But often in November, after winter had apparently set in, there came those mild, smoky days we all know so well. This was fresh alarm. Some families went back to the fort, and only the bravest remained. Hence the expression 'Indian summer,' a phrase which is now of pleasant association, but which in its origin would make the most light-hearted frontiersman shudder."

The term "Indian summer," it may be said in conclusion, spread to New England by 1788; to New England by 1788; to New York by 1799; to Canada by 1821; and to England by 1830.

Horace Walpole, a British writer, used the term in a letter in 1788.

Keep Eye On Symington

By MARTIN S. HAYDEN

With other Democratic presidential aspirants hurt by cat-fighting over civil rights and party organizational control, Missouri's Sen. Stuart Symington is getting attention as the quiet one to watch in 1960.

As it was last year when the tall Missouri charmer first emerged as a White House "possibility," his big asset is a blurred political personality. Where other hopefuls have in recent weeks been "tagged" as either supporters or opponents of Sen. Lyndon Johnson in the civil rights fight, Symington has walked toward the sunshine as one who made no southern enemies while voting with the liberals in behalf of Negro suffrage.

SIMILARLY, he is unlabeled in a new and brewing fight for control of the Democratic national chairmanship.

Paul M. Butler, the present chairman, brought that contest partially into the open recently with an angry Los Angeles attack on "saboteurs" who he said would "wreck our programs and halt our progress" to control party machinery and dictate the 1960 nomination.

Few here doubt Butler was aiming at Johnson and his (Butler's) old Indiana rival, ex-Chairman Frank E. McKinney.

Butler men picture them as leaders of a move to give Johnson control of everything Democratic by installing as national chairman former Kentucky Sen. Earl C. Clements.

Clements was John's chief floor lieutenant until his defeat last November and now has a Johnson-provided job as executive director of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee.

A blooming of the chairmanship fight would continue what the rights battle has already started in identifying presidential hopefuls with party factions at the expense of other support.

MICHIGAN'S Gov. G. Mennen Williams, for example, is regarded by all observers as a top nomination contender. But he is also recognized as a personification of civil rights and of the theory that national party policy should be set in the representative atmosphere of the national committee and not in Lyndon Johnson's office.

As a result, Williams is an anathema to the South and the one man whose nomination would be most likely to swing southerners and other conservatives away from the party.

At the opposite end of the candidate spectrum is Johnson himself. Whatever hope he had that northern Democrats might take him as a "liberal" southerner went out the window with his masterful floor victory in the rights bill as the best they can now get, they are unanimous in pointing to Johnson as the evil genius who wrecked their hopes for an all out bill.

Similarly, deflated is Massachusetts' Sen. John Kennedy. The surprising southern backing he had when he nearly won the 1956 vice-presidential nomination from Sen. Estes Kefauver presumably has been cemented by his following of Johnson in the rights battle.

His votes, however, have—fairly or unfairly—laid him open to "anti-Negro" charge calculated to cool his northern supporters.

With Adlai Stevenson, Kefauver and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman rated as politically "dead," that leaves Symington alone and still-kicking among the candidates talked of in '56. On the surface, he has all the attributes of a model candidate.

Physically, he looks the part. As president of St. Louis' Emerson Electric Co. he made his million dollars and thus made himself "acceptable" to many businessmen. Labor supports him in his home state.

He has been quietly consistent in supporting handouts for farmers. As the 1950 chairman of the National Security Resources board he fathered the study which pointed to water as the country's most-critical need and he followed up by supporting the Hells Canyon high dam and other river developments dear to western voters.

CHARACTERISTICALLY, in the rights debate Symington kept quiet while other northerners attacked. His regular votes against Johnson and the South on every test are passed off by rabid Dixie-men with a comment that: "Stu has a political problem with a big St. Louis Negro vote; we understand him."

As they scan his record, candidate evaluators find that Symington is never noisy on the issues that cause political trouble. To the public he is identified with one continuing effort: The buildup of a bigger air force. True, he gets few results from his warnings that economy penny-pinching may pay off in national destruction but neither does he make enemies.

That asset of having "nobody mad at him" well could be the key to a Symington win when Democrats, as they must, sit down to find a unity nominee.

Senate Dignity

WASHINGTON. — The United States Senate has fallen prey to a habit which some of its members fear may have gotten out of hand.

The habit is the amiable one of calling attention to certain visitors in the galleries and of asking them to rise so that they may receive a standing ovation from the senators on the floor.

The gesture, which has been made more often in this session than any time in history, derived from the traditional Senate practice of calling a brief recess in order to bring distinguished visitors to the floor to meet the senators.

During the thirties such celebrities as Sgt. Alvin York, Charles Lindbergh, Rear Adm. Richard Byrd, Amelia Earhart Putnam, and Lady Astor were honored in this fashion.

THE PRESENT practice was instituted by Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky on June 29, 1939, when he called the attention of the Senate to the presence of Prince Olav and Princess Martha of Norway in the diplomatic gallery.

The Kentuckian apparently enjoyed the incident for he did it again less than a year later in recognizing the presence of 20 young ladies from a foreign land.

His innovation was not repeated until 1944 when Sens. Robert M. La Follette Jr. of Wisconsin and Elbert Thomas of Utah made the same sort of gesture. The fact that there were no set standards for the recognition was implied in the following year when a group of Quiz Kids and Miss America of 1945, Bess Myerson, were accorded the honor.

This year there have been more than 30 such interruptions in the Senate procedure and the varied group of honorees has included comedians Jimmy Durante, Jerry Lewis, and Arthur Godfrey, a girls' drill team from Houston, a cherry blossom princess from Maryland, the Little Chamber Orchestra of Portland, Ore., a New Jersey vegetable queen, a choir from Minnesota, the sheriff's posse from Clark County, Nev., the 561st Air Force Band, a Sunday school class from Houston, the National Ballet of Canada, at least eight school groups from Maryland, Louisiana, South Carolina, and Texas, and Adlai Stevenson.

THE HEAVY USE into which the practice has fallen is a source of mild concern to Senate traditionalists who feel that it is a threat to the dignity of the upper body.

Some disapproving senators have discussed the feasibility of a resolution that would limit the practice but Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, who holds the record for the session with four introductions, is reported to have decided that the habit has gone too far and to be planning to pass the word that the introductions should be more selective in the future.

THE TURNING point may have been when blonde actress Jayne Mansfield visited the Senate. Her status as a celebrity certainly merited gallery recognition in terms of the precedents of the session but the dazzling and somewhat focused quality of her beauty quickly raised the spectre of the Senate's dignity.

Miss Mansfield was received off the floor in the majority leader's office and the incident may have stirred some introspection as to where the practice of gallery introductions was leading.

The private citizen who wants a Senate ovation had best hurry to Washington for the practice may die fast.

Once Over

By H. L. PHILLIPS

Say 'Ah,' Fido!

You can now get insurance for a dog. New York State has issued a license for this to the Animal Insurance Company of America. (Our pooch sat up today and begged for a policy. If we get one we are going to teach him to go to the agent and fetch it to us.)

The insurance will be limited to pedigree pups for the present, with mutts excluded. This disturbs plenty of dog owners who insist their mongrels are smarter, more devoted and better all around pals. (We will wager that if either could do it, the mutt would be the first to understand an insurance examiner's command, "Say 'ah,'" and state when he last saw a doctor.)

IT LOOKS LIKE a slur against most pooches. Only a small percentage are blue ribbons. Millions of crossbreeds are valued by their owners more highly than any upperset pup they ever saw.

"It's the same as if in human circles a company would insure a society man but not a middle-class guy," complained one dog lover today.

"My pooch is a mutt and wouldn't pass the outer guards at any dog show. He lacks everything that the pedigree people call class. His neck is too long for his body, his body is too long for his legs and his legs are too thin for his feet."

"HIS COLORING is pretty comical. His tail is like a radio antenna. He combines the characteristics of a cocker spaniel, a dachshund, a St. Bernard and a rabbit hound."

"One ear has been chewed off and he has a harelip. But he's the most loyal, honest, affectionate, dependable all-around friend a man could desire and smart as a whip."

"His name is 'Sandy' and I wouldn't swap him for Son of Viscount Waddingham's Duchess III. If he ain't a better risk than some society hounds, I must be off my rocker."

"What's that?"

"This pooch is so intelligent that if you showed him an insurance policy he would not even try to understand all the clauses and small type."

WE TOOK OUR PUP to the insurance office yesterday. "Has he ever had any accidents, injuries or illnesses?" the agent asked. "This pooch has had everything but nothing bothers him," we said.

"Has he ever been rejected by any insurance company?" the man asked.

"He has been turned down often on account of a high flea count," we admitted.

IRENE DUNN has been named a delegate to the September session of the United Nations General Assembly and we feel better about that organization now. . . . Whenever a world crisis raises its ugly head 'twill be good to know that Irene is there.

The U.N. can use glamor and is obviously not yet ready for Marilyn Monroe or Jayne Mansfield.

Could this mean that Hollywood and U.N. are getting together on movie rights to the U.N. fights, after all?

A QUESTION asked by legitimate union members and others listening to the telecast of the McClellan committee probe was finally openly put by Sen. Bob Kennedy the other day. This was why bar associations don't do something about lawyers who represent racket unions robbed by hoodlum bosses and who turn up in court defending the hoods charged with robbing them.

Mother, 51, Disappears After $100,000 Shortage at Clinic

ATLANTA (AP) — The fantastic details in the life of Mrs. Janet R. Gray, wanted on a charge of conspiring to transport stolen property across state borders, were revealed Friday.

She was born in Tientsin, China, as a British subject and her real name is Margaret Lydia McGlashen Burton, though she has been known by 22 different names.

She told acquaintances she was the daughter of a U. S. Army general and the widow of a millionaire.

Her police record began 18 years ago and she has had bouts with the law in Honolulu, the Panama Canal Zone, Canada, and in this country in Texas, Louisiana and Virginia.

Three years ago she appeared in Atlanta as bookkeeper and office manager for a group of doctors in suburban Decatur.

On July 30 she made a quick get-away when the doctors found a $100,000 shortage on their books. She left here in a motorcade made up of pink, air-conditioned Lincoln, several others cars, and a moving van filled with about 30 valuable show dogs.

Her 20-year-old daughter Sheila Joy, who posed as her 16-year-old niece and used nine aliases, presumably accompanied her.

Still missing with the mother and daughter are three prize cocker spaniels with the fancy names of Rise and Shine, Piccolo Pete, and Capital Gain. The other show dogs have been recovered, and so has the pink Lincoln.

Conviction on the charge against the mother carries a penalty of up to 10 years in jail, a fine of $1,000, or both.

Dems Confident of A-Power Bill Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Democrats voiced confidence today that Congress soon will send President Eisenhower a program for government construction of atomic power reactors.

These Democrats also said they are certain Eisenhower will sign the bill even though his administration opposes the power reactor proposals. They noted that the bill contains all of the regular authorizations for Atomic Energy Commission construction in the year ahead.

Several Democratic sponsors of the power reactor program took this view after the Senate Friday defeated all administration efforts to knock key reactor projects out of a 389-million-dollar atomic energy authorization bill. The measure then was passed by voice vote.

The outcome was different in the House, which last week stripped from the measure all but one of the key reactor provisions inserted by the Democratic majority in the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. The House version follows more closely the administration's recommendations.

not end the struggle. But it would go a long way in that direction. The bill still would have to go back to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendment. Democrats, however, contend senators will agree to this change—but to nothing more.

But there was some talk in the Senate about a two-part change in the Senate bill. One part would limit the jury trial requirement to voting rights cases. The other would give the attorney general authority to intervene in civil rights cases in general, if local authorities should ask him to do so.

The House bill would empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions against all kinds of civil rights violations. Persons violating such injunctions could be punished by the judge for criminal contempt. No jury trial would be provided in such cases.

As passed by the House, the bill conforms generally with Eisenhower's program.

The Senate bill would limit the injunction provisions to voting rights cases. It also would require that criminal contempt trials growing out of injunction violations be held before juries. This jury trial requirement would apply to a wide range of cases—not just to those involving civil rights.

The Eisenhower administration opposes the Senate jury trial provision, contending it would hamper the power of federal judges to enforce their orders and that it would hinder the operations of many federal agencies.

HEN LAYS UNIQUE EGG — An Ohio white rock hen performed an impressive feat recently by laying an egg which resembles a bent bowling pin. The hen belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mountz of RD 1, Hanoverton, who say it is their first experience with unusual eggs laid by their chickens.

The Mountz children, Ellen, 2, and Elaine, 4, are shown in the picture above examining the egg which is being held by Elaine. The yoke was absent from the inside of the egg which was filled with only the whites when the egg was broken after the photo was taken.

Esson stopped, opened the trunk, pointed the pistol at them and pulled the trigger. It clicked, but did not fire.

"It scared us to death," Mrs. Wagner said. "Then he would apologize for the way he was treating us."

The Wagners worked loose from their bonds and succeeded in prying open the trunk enough to try and attract attention. First they tossed out what objects they could find in the trunk. Then Wagner stuck his fingers through the narrow opening and Reavis spotted them.

Wagner, stationed at Schilling Air Force Base near Salina, was treated for a head wound which required 15 stitches, and Mrs. Wagner for shock and cuts. Both were released after treatment.

Mrs. Wagner said she is expecting her baby in 5 1/2 months.

Esson escaped May 26, 1956, from the London, Ohio, prison farm where he was serving a life term for a holdup murder.

seen either some "hotrodders" in action or a "rehearsal" of the robbery.

The youth, Tim Straney, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Straney of 99 Indian Lake Blvd., Canfield, said he saw "three or four men" exchange cars Wednesday on Indian Lake Blvd., near his home.

The boy described one of the men as having a crew cut and in his early 20's.

One of the cars, Tim said, was greenish blue and had a light top. It might have been a 1955 Chevrolet, he added. The other auto, he said, was black and could have been a 1951 Pontiac or Oldsmobile.

The incident occurred between 12:30 and 12:45 p.m. Wednesday. The boy showed police officers skid marks in the gravel-topped asphalt road where the car-switching took place.

Tim's mother, who said she was alerted to the incident by screaming of car tires, verified the boy's story. A neighbor across the street also witnessed the car exchange.

WHILE COMBING Canfield area roads, Sheriff Langley and his deputies arrested an ex-convict whom they suspected might be connected with the case.

The ex-convict was held by sheriff's deputies even after bank employees failed to identify him as one of the bandits. The suspect was wanted on a warrant by the Mahoning County sheriff's office on charges of burglary and possession of burglary tools, according to Sheriff Langley. The sheriff also said he was wanted in Indianapolis for safe cracking.

The prisoner was burning trash in a field about a mile east of Canfield along U.S. Route 224 when deputies stopped to investigate. The deputies ordered him to stop, but he ran into the woods. In the chase that followed, during which a deputy fired one shot, the suspect was captured in the Canfield Cemetery.

Police officers found a .38 caliber pistol and parts of about two other pistols in the man's car parked near the trash he was burning. The sheriff sifted the ashes, but failed to turn up any clues.

CURIOUS SPECTATORS and reporters and photographers from most of the district newspapers, radio and television stations milled around the bank most of the afternoon. They watched as employees counted the bank's money to determine the exact amount of the robbery.

The robbery was executed so quietly that employees in nearby stores didn't even know that it was going on.

Plane Ditches At Sea; 1 Dead

10 Brazilian Plane Crew Members Saved

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — One Brazilian crewman was lost in shark-infested waters about 300 yards off the Dominican north coast Friday after an airliner was ditched. Ten other crewmen were rescued. There were no passengers aboard.

The airliner, a super Constellation owned by the Brazilian Varig Airlines, was being ferried from Ciudad Trujillo to New York City for repairs when it went down.

The four-engine plane flew here northbound from Buenos Aires with its No. 2 engine out. The 32 New York-bound passengers disembarked and Capt. Gerald Kipping then took the plane on toward New York, nearest major maintenance point for Varig.

About an hour out Kipping radioed that further trouble had reduced him to one functioning engine.

The plane hit the water nose first and broke in two. The nose section exploded and sank and the tail began to sink also, forcing two men clinging to it to swim. One, Oswaldo Scherer, disappeared before rescuers could reach the spot.

seated, called the phony locals a fraud against the union. O'Rourke invoked the Fifth Amendment Thursday in refusing to answer all questions about the election and about any relationship with Hoffa. Hickey announced from the witness chair he is a candidate for the union's presidency, and said he thinks there will be moves to get rid of him as a union official when the Teamsters hold their convention next month.

Hoffa will be questioned by the committee next week in the climax of the committee's exploration into McClellan's charge that Hoffa formed a corrupt alliance with labor racketeers Johnny Dio and Tony (Ducks) Corallo to increase his union power.

In addition to Hickey and Lacey, there were two other witnesses Friday—John McNamara, president of Teamsters Local 808 in New York, and William P. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn.

McNamara, an alleged confederate of Dio, refused to answer questions, claiming the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination.

Bradley testified that he and Hoffa had worked out what he term a mutual assistance pact in 1955 between the ILA and the Teamsters Union after the American Federation of Labor had expelled the ILA as racket-ridden.

But George Meany, then AFL president, blocked the deal. Meany now is president of the AFL-CIO.

Accidents Bring Injuries to Two

One person was injured in a head-on car-truck collision on Rt. 224, two miles west of Ellsworth, at 1:30 a.m. this morning, the Canfield state patrol reported.

John J. Quinn, 20, of Rice Lake, Wis., driver of the car, was treated for a lacerated left cheek and abrasions of the arms and legs at the Youngstown South Side Hospital.

Forrest D. Baker, 29, of Burgoon, O., operator of the truck, was unhurt.

The patrol said that Quinn's car which was going east on Rt. 224 went left of center and collided with Baker's truck which was approaching from the west.

Theodore Martin, 30, of Grafton, lost control of his auto on a curve, rolled over an embankment along the Y and O Road, about four miles south of Rt. 30, at 5:13 p.m. yesterday.

Martin is reported in fair condition at the East Liverpool Hospital where he was admitted for the treatment of a neck injury.

Martin has been cited for unsafe operation, the state patrol said.

Ridzon said before the meeting that if the group decides to strike a written agreement would be distributed among local dairies and if no "boycott" was called, the agreements would not be distributed.

The two - paragraph agreement says: "In consideration of the agreement of other dairy products processors to pay a like price, I, We, the undersigned, being processors and purchasers of dairy products from farm producers of fluid milk, do hereby agree with the Ohio Dairy Farmers Bargaining Association to pay $5.50 per hundredweight for No. 1 milk, and $4 per hundredweight for all other milk other than grade one of the equivalent on a blend price as an interim price."

I-We also agree to reopen price negotiations on or before Oct. 1, 1957, for fall and winter milk prices, bargaining to be with representatives of the ODFBA selected by the producers of fluid milk."

A dairy producer may become a member of the association by paying a $3 initiation fee. Some 20 to 25 dairies are affected by the association's intended boycott.

Ridzon said he was disappointed in the meeting both in the attendance and the fact that too many farmers were at home with their minds already made up to keep milk on their farms.

Ridzon appointed Thomas Chestnut of RD 4, Columbiana, as a temporary chairman of the association for this county. Chestnut had initiated the motion, following 90 minutes of discussion, to stand by the actions of the other three districts.

Gallant Man Favored to Win At Saratoga

The Associated Press

Gallant Man, Ralph Lowe's Irish-bred colt from Texas, is the prohibitive choice in Saratoga's $40,000 added Travers Stakes which tops today's national racing program in tradition but not in value.

But it'll take something more than mere victory in the 88th running of the 1 1/4-mile classic for 3-year-olds to enhance Gallant Man's division title rating.

With Iron Liege and Round Table at Chicago awaiting the American Derby and Bold Ruler, the Belmont Stakes winner faces only seven so-so sophomores.

Ogden Phipps' Bureau is among the only stakes winner among the seven. He'll go 10 pounds from Gallant Man, who'll pick up 126. All of the others get in with the minimum of 112.

Willie Shoemaker, whose misjudging of the finish line may have cost Gallant Man the Kentucky Derby won by Iron Liege, again will be in the saddle.

As a companion piece, Saratoga offers the $25,000 added Grand Union Hotel stakes for 2-year-olds.

Washington Park features the $50,000 added Arch Ward Memorial Stakes over the mile and three-sixteenths grass course. Atlantic City has twelve 3-year-old fillies named for the $25,000 added d'Adda Pageant Stakes. It'll also will be run on the grass at a mile and one-sixteenth.

Other feature races on the national program are the $20,000 added Debutante Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Del Mar and the $7,500 added Andover Handicap at Rockingham Park, a mile and 70-yard race for 3-year-olds.

KKK Softball Team Wins 1st-Round Tilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A team sponsored by the Chattanooga, Tenn., chapter of the Ku Klux Klan won its first-round game in the state softball tournament here Friday night.

The "Knights," as they are called, got less attention from the fans than another, livelier game among the five in progress at the same time. They defeated a team composed of members of various Nashville church sponsored teams 12-0.

This is the first year the team has played as a unit in Chattanooga's Commercial AA League, although most of its members have played on other teams in previous years.

Team officials have repeatedly said membership in the Klan is not necessary for team membership.

The squad wears red and white uniforms with "Knights of the Ku Klux Klan" lettered in white across the front.

League officials drew heavy editorial fire from the Chattanooga Times for permitting the team to enter. Later, other teams dropped out of the league and were replaced.

So far none of the other teams has dropped out of the state tournament because of its presence.

Rebel All-Stars Whip Yankees 26-0

Upstaters Take Whitewashing

Converse Tosses 28 Yard Scoring Pass

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Southern Ohio high school football is riding high today. The Rebel all-stars handed the Yankees a convincing 26-0 setback Friday night in the 12th annual North-South game before a crowd of 18,000.

It was the first whitewashing suffered by the Upstaters. The victory was the first for the South since 1952.

The victory margin matched the series record and pulled the Rebels even with the Northerners at five victories each and two ties.

The surprising thing was the ease with which the Southerners handled the favored Northern team.

The vaunted Yankee passing attack fell flat, with no completed series in five attempts. One was intercepted. All three Southern passes, thrown by Howard Converse of Lima Shawnee, were completed, for 59 yards. One went for a 28-yard touchdown.

The Southerners punted only three times, none in the last half. The Rebels scored on a 17-yard run by Middletown halfback John Moore in the first period. Converse threw his 28-yard scoring pass to Leon Mitchell of Middletown in the third. Mark Grim of Columbus North went 53 yards to score on a trap play in the same period, and the winners climaxed it with a 9-play, 78-yard drive, which Nelson Owens of Springfield ended with a 7-yard jaunt.

Grim was the night's big performer. He raced 130 yards in 14 tries, just four yards short of the North team's entire output.

Despite the fine running and pass catching of the Southerners, the difference in the ball game was Converse. His wizardry in hiding the ball on the intricate split-T offense had the Northerners guessing all night.

Converse will attend the University of Cincinnati this fall.

Grim, the big ground gainer, will go to Ohio State.

Ike Grimley, Canton McKinley All-Ohio quarterback who led the Bulldogs to their second straight state championship last fall, and about whom the Northern offense was constructed, had a not-too-impressive evening.

He muffed a fair catch attempt in the first period, giving the ball to the South on the Yankee 25 yard line, from where the Rebels scored their first touchdown.

He gumbled a couple of other kicks, and two of his short punts, one for 26 yards and another for about 30, put the Rebels in position for their two third period scores.

The All-Ohio star, however, led his team in ground gaining, with 43 yards in seven attempts.

The North, with four All-Ohio stars in the backfield, failed to get into South territory in the first period; reached the Rebel 36 once in the second, but lost the ball on downs, and got to the South's 40 in the third period. The only Yankee scoring chance came in the dying minutes, when a Northern punt struck a Southern player on the 25 yard line and the North recovered.

The Yankees zoomed to the 7 yard line, but the South took the ball on downs with less than a minute to play.

Despite the loss, the North still holds a 195-166 scoring edge for the 12 games.

Mitchell and Moore, who scored two of the South's touchdowns, will enroll at Miami University next month, while Owens, who scored the fourth, is undecided on which school to attend.

The Springfield played a great game on both offense and defense, gaining 36 yards on five runs and making tackles all over the field.

Canton Golfer Leading Public Links Tourney

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — A field of 64, survivors of 148 original entrants, went into the final 36 holes of the Ohio Public Links golf championship today, chasing a 22-year-old Canton life insurance salesman.

Don Nist Jr., former Ohio State player, bettered par on each of the first two rounds for a 69-70-139 score over the Elms Country Club's 6,416-yard, par 71 layout to take a two stroke lead at the halfway mark.

The surviving 64 scored 156 or better to stay in the fight and 35 of them will share the $1,000 merchandise prize list at the end of today's play.

Two strokes back of Nist with 141 were Bernie Alleman, 25-year-old Akron University student who is working his way through school as a bartender. Deadlocked at 143 were Lulu Sabotin, 29; Warren Fireman and Dick Tillett, 32-year-old Canton brickyard employee.

Defending champion Len Pietras of Toledo scored a 77 Friday to wind up with 148, which tied him with Ralph Schneider of Cleveland, the 1949 winner.

Dave Daniels of Columbus, who won two years ago as a 16-year-old, was tied at 147 with Rex Vrabie, a Youngstown steel company supervisor. Also high in the fight were Chris Postines, 32-year-old unemployed steelworker from Massillon, with 146; Frank Gack of Cleveland, a construction worker, and 18-year-old Bob Black of Massillon, a Purdue student, deadlocked at 145.

Concession Workers Nearly Keep Detroit Fans Out of Park

DETROIT (AP) — A strike of Briggs Stadium concession workers that almost shut out fans from Friday night's Detroit-Chicago baseball game appeared near settlement today.

Negotiators for Local 705 of the Restaurant and Hotel Employees Union and Sport Service Inc., said they worked out an agreement which would be offered for union ratification. No details were given pending a membership vote.

Few fans who planned to attend the game changed their plans because of the touch-and-go situation that prevailed until shortly before the contest started.

A court order, issued about two hours before game time, broke up the concession workers' picket lines and opened the gates of the 56,000-seat stadium.

Of a crowd of 40,000 expected before the trouble developed, 37,445 attended.

At issue in the dispute was the demand of some 250 concession workers for a $1 a day increase.

The union says concession workers now average from $8 to $8.75 a day.

Senior Golf Tourney Lead by Gene Sarazen

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Gene Sarazen carried his single stroke lead into the second half of the first National Senior Open Golf tournament today, but the Esmeralda course was still sizzling from the record-tying round turned in by an even older pro.

Sarazen, 55-year-old title winner from Germantown, N.Y., added a three under par 67 Friday to his opening 65 for a halfway total of 132. This was a stroke better than Charles Shappard of West Newton, Mass., with a 67-66-133.

Al Watrous, a 58-year-old from Birmingham, Mich., burned up the 6,077-foot course with a record equaling 64. This put him a strong third, with 70-64-134, along with Jim Barfield of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Bunched at 136, in a tie for fifth, were Willie Goggin of Englewood, N.J.; Fred Wood of Vancouver, B.C., and Jim Hines of Palm Springs, Calif.

The $12,500 tournament ends Sunday.

Cleveland Trims Kansas City 4-2

Colavito Hits 2-Run Homer in 6th Inning

KANSAS CITY — Home runs by Rocky Colavito and Dick Williams and the seven-hit pitching of Mike Garcia carried the Cleveland Indians to a 4-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Friday night.

The victory put them within 7 1/2 of the Braves, with three more games remaining in the Milwaukee series, and kept St. Louis a point ahead of third-place Brooklyn, a 4-1 winner over Pittsburgh.

Chicago's Cubs knocked off fourth-place Cincinnati 8-6 in 12 innings. New York took two at Philadelphia, collecting an 8-7 decision in the completion of an April 28 suspended game, then handing Robin Roberts his 16th defeat 2-1.

In the American League, the second-place Chicago White Sox blew another chance to gain on New York, losing to Detroit 6-2 while Baltimore's rising Orioles knocked off the Yankees 4-3 in 11 innings. The Yanks still lead it by 5 1/2.

Boston, with Ted Williams sitting it out because of a stiff neck, was blanked by Chuck Stobbs in a 5-0 Washington victory that hoisted the Nats into a seventh-place tie with Kansas City, beaten 4-2 by Cleveland.

The Cardinals, who also picked up seven walks, clubbed Gene Conley with a three-run first, triggered by Walker Cooper's two-run, two-out double. Del Ennis rapped a three-run homer off Juan Pizarro to wrap it up in the seventh.

Lindy McDaniel won his 10th, but got the gate when the Braves scored their pair in the seventh with two out. Hoyt Wilhelm, Wilmer Mizell and Billy Muffett finished up.

Hank Aaron of the Braves was 1-for-5 for a .3326 average, while Card Stan Musial was 2-for-5 for .3333. Aaron keeps the lead, however, with more at-bats.

Dodger Manager Walt Alston lifted southpaw ace, Johnny Podres, who admitted to some arm trouble after giving up a walk and single with one out in the ninth. Ed Roebuck came on for the last two outs, nailing Podres' 10th victory. Bob Purkey lost his 10th.

The ninth was tough for Baltimore's Bill Wight, also. He had the Yanks in hand with two out, but Yogi Berra came off the bench and hit his 18th home run for a 3-3 tie. Wight worked the 10th and finally collected a 5-5 record with his third victory, against no defeats, over the champs when Billy Goodman tripled and George Kell, pinch-hitting for the 35-year-old southpaw, dumped a single over a down in infield.

Art Ditmar lost his first in relief, for an 8-3 record.

Yankee Mickey Mantle picked up two points or a .383 average with 2-for-4. Williams has a .393 mark.

Billy Hoef, now 5-7 after winning 20 last season, rode out an 11-hitter to beat the White Sox and Jim Wilson, who had won four in a row. Home runs by Ray Boone and Charlie Maxwell powered a four-run third.

The Red Sox were checked on five hits by Stobbs at Washington as the veteran lefty gained a 6-15 record. He fanned seven, getting Billy Consolo four times, twice with the bases loaded. George Suss was the loser.

Dick Williams and Rocky Colavito homered and got the job done for the Indians and Mike Garcia, now 6-7. Alex Kellner lost it.

Jim Brosnan claimed the Cubs' third victory in 14 games with the Redlegs, blanking them on two hits for five frames until Walt Moryn hit a payoff two-run homer off lefty reliever Don Gross, 4-7.

Ray Jablonski smashed a two-run homer in the ninth after Roberts had shut out the Giants on four hits for eight. It was the 31st homer off Robin. Stu Miller won in relief. Mark Grissom's 2-3 innings of shutout pitching clinched the completion of the suspended game.

Brown Offered $50,000 To Fight Rosi

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Paoli Rosi, the Bronx transplanted Italian better, today is ready to guarantee lightweight champion Joe Brown a $50,000 purse for a title fight in Louisville.

The offer was made Friday night by his manager, Charlie Johnston, a short time after the sharp-punching Rosi won a split but popular decision over Baby Vasquez of Mexico City.

"I don't say I win—over Brown—but I'm very happy to get the chance," Rosi said with a wide grin.

The 28-year-old Rosi weighed in at 136 and Vasquez, 24, at 135.

A jarring right uppercut and superb defense proved the margin over Vasquez in a fast-moving fight. There were no knock-downs but Rosi's power-packed right shook up the Mexican batter in the fourth round and had him in trouble in the 9th and final round.

Eight-ranked Rosi lost by a TKO to Vasquez in their first meeting when Rosi suffered a deep cut over his left eye.

Judge Walter Beck and Judge Tom Knuckles called it 48-46 and 47-44 respectively in favor of Rosi. Referee Dan Leslie had it 47-45 for Vasquez.

Sixth-ranked Vasquez, pointing or a fight with first-ranked Kenny Lane, wouldn't talk, but his manager, Pancho Rosales, said he felt Vasquez won the fight, and they wanted a rematch.

Rams Roll Over Redskins 45-14

Cardinals Whipped By Packers 24-16

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ram coach Sid Gillman gives the credit for Los Angeles' smashing 45-14 victory over the Washington Redskins to co-captains Norm Van Brocklin and Bill Sherman.

"Those boys have instilled great team spirit in the players," said Gillman, who watched the Rams roll over Washington in their National Football League opener last night before 85,871 Memorial Coliseum fans.

The game, along with the Green Bay-Chicago Cardinals game in Miami, marked the opening of the NFL exhibition season. The Packers whipped the Cardinals 24-16 before 20,820 as Bobby Dillon turned two intercepted passes into touchdowns. An 8-yard Babe Parilli pass to Gary Knafltic provided the clincher in the last period after the first half ended 7-7.

Two games are on tap tonight. The Chicago Bears play the Pittsburgh Steelers at Jacksonville, Fla. and the Philadelphia Eagles take on the Baltimore Colts at Hershey, Pa. On Sunday the champion New York Giants play the San Francisco 49ers at San Francisco.

Van Brocklin, the old pro from Oregon, completed 16 of 28 passes for 227 yards and five touchdowns—all to different receivers.

"The Daffman was absolutely tremendous," said Gillman, who benched Van Brocklin for a good part of last season.

Sherman, from his defensive halfback spot, fired up the Ram pass defenders who smothered the Redskins aerial attack.

Al Dorow and Eddie LeBaron alternated at quarterback for Washington and managed, between them, to complete eight out of 16 tosses for 105 yards.

COLUMBUS WINS 6-0
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — First place Buffalo became the latest victim of the rampaging Columbus Jets Friday night. The last place Jets blasted the International League leaders 6-0 for their seventh straight win. Dick Hall followed Don Kildow's Thursday three-hitter with an even neater two-hitter to get the win.

AKRON RESIDENT WINS
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Top-seeded Hal Schaus of Akron, Ohio, scored two easy victories to advance to the quarterfinals of the Lexington Country Club invitational tennis tournament. He beat Lexington's Dick Vimont, 6-1, 6-0, in the first round and Jim Baughman of Stanford, 6-2, 6-2 in the second.

WINS NAVY TOURNEY
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (P)—Jim Kinder of Ocean Beach, Calif., won the All-Navy golf tournament Friday by sinking an 18-foot putt on the last hole. His 72-hole total was 237, one under par.

Among the leaders in the open division were Bill Whistler, Atlantic Forces, Brookville, Ohio, and Bill Mitchell, Akron.

Chicago Trips Cincinnati 8-6

Art Fowler Gives Up
5 Hits in 1st Inning

CHICAGO (P)—An epidemic of gopher ball pitches is sweeping through the pitching staff of the Cincinnati Reds.

The latest outbreak came Friday and spoiled a tight relief performance by Don Gross.

The left-hander had held the Chicago Cubs to seven hits while the Reds pulled even, 6-6. But he served up a pitch in the 12th inning that Walt Moryn blasted for a two-run homer. It gave the Cubs the victory, 8-6.

The recent three-game series with Milwaukee had a similar home run element. For example, Brave pitcher Lew Burdette banded his first two homers as a major leaguer in the first game. The Braves accounted for seven runs with four homers in the third victory.

There was a hint of that wholesale slugging in Friday's game, too.

The Cubs hit starter Art Fowler free and easy in the first inning. They scored five runs—three of them on Ernie Banks' home run.

The Reds managed to tie it up in the sixth, 5-5, when they punched out three runs.

Frankie Robinson touched off the rally with a single. He moved to second on Joe Taylor's bunt and darted home on Gus Bell's single. A wild pitch allowed Taylor and Bell to scramble to the next base and both ran home on Roy McMillan's single to center field.

The Reds chipped away at the Cubs' early lead, picking up a run in the second on singles by Taylor, Bell and Don Hoak, and another marker in the fifth on McMillan's double and Gross' triple.

Robinson's homer in the seventh gave the Reds a brief advantage, but Chicago evened matters in the bottom of the seventh on Bob Adams run-scoring single.

That was the end of Redlegs scoring as Jim Brosnan, who came on in the eighth, held the Rhinelanders hitless until the 12th inning. The Reds loaded the bases there of two walks and an error, but the rally died.

The second of three games scheduled with Chicago comes today, with Hal Jeffcoat slated to oppose Dave Hillman on the mound.

A — The originated with the Lombardy family, the first great money lenders in England. The balls were also the coat of arms of the Medici family, the richest merchants and greatest money lenders of Florence, Italy.

Fairfield-Waterford School Board Employs 3 To Complete Staff

COLUMBIANA — Fairfield-Waterford district board of education, meeting at Fairfield School, Thursday evening, hired three teachers and decided to buy a new bus subject to approval by the State Department of Education.

Teaching staffs of both Fairfield and New Waterford Schools were completed with the hiring of three teachers. Mrs. Hazel Weaver of Salem will teach fifth and sixth grades at Fairfield, and Mrs. Kathryn Kerr of Salem, fourth grade at New Waterford. James Fitzer of Youngstown will teach vocal and instrumental music at New Waterford.

Milk for the district will be provided by Smith Dairy of Boardman, and a movie projector for each school will be purchased.

Four cooks for Fairfield cafeteria were re-hired, Mrs. R. R. Poppel, Mrs. Vertie Detrow, Mrs. Freida Firestone and Miss Anna Chamberlain, all of Columbiana, and for New Waterford, Mrs. Frances Taylor, Mrs. Rose Cella and Mrs. Helen Black, all of the New Waterford area.

Edward Miller of Columbiana will supply gas and service for the school busses. Edward Gorbey and Eugene Weikart submitted bids to supply coal, but awarding of a contract was deferred.

CONTRARY to earlier reports, candidates for membership on the Fairfield-Waterford district board of education at the November election are not aligned for and against the present consolidated district. Charles Crook and Edward Kirk were asked to run because of their fitness for the two seats to be filled on the district board, but not on any specific platform, and neither has expressed himself as taking any stand.

Although Mr. Crook is superintendent of East Fairfield Methodist Sunday school, he lives across the line in Unity township in the New Waterford school area, and Edward Kirk, whose name has been coupled with his, is a resident of Fairfield township, but is employed in Salem.

Edgar V. Bell and Stanley Yeager, the other two candidates for the two places on the board, are residents of Fairfield township.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS and its auxiliary, Sunset Temple, Pythian Sisters, will have a coverdish family picnic in Pavilion 1, Firestone Park, at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Persons attending are to take coverdishes and table service.

Columbiana Auxiliary of Salem Hospitals will meet to sew at the home of Mrs. H. H. Pierson, Fairfield School Road, at 10 a.m. Monday. Members are to take lunches.

Miss Loretta Foerch and Miss Marcia Roth will represent Columbiana Junior Tri-Hi-Y at a conference at Camp Nelson Dodd, Brinkhaven, O.

ALBERT HOUSEHOLDER, presiding minister of Columbiana Jehovah's Witnesses, will head a delegation of nine who will attend a five-day convention in Baltimore next Wednesday through Sunday. Remaining members of the delegation will be Mrs. Householder, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gentile and Mrs. Rose Crumbacher. Forty thousand are expected to attend the assembly, which will be the largest in America this summer.

The summer rally of the Youngstown Federation of Luther Leagues will be held at the Clyde Douglas farm, north of town on Renkenberger Road, Sunday afternoon. Registration will begin at 3.

The Presbyterian Triple M class will have a corn roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hunt, Middleton Road, at 8:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Alpheus Rohrer will discuss Paul's first missionary journey at a meeting at 8 p.m. Sunday in Zion Hill Church of the Brethren.

Christ Mission truck will visit East Fairfield and vicinity next Thursday.

Civil Air Patrol to Hold Practice Search

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The Civil Air Patrol is holding its annual practice search and rescue mission here today and Sunday with more than 100 men and 25 planes of five northern Ohio groups participating.

The exercise is held once a year to perfect search techniques and to permit an evaluation of efficiency by the Air Rescue Service of the United States Air Force, of which the Civil Air Patrol is an auxiliary.

Groups participating have headquarters in Youngstown, Lima, Toledo and Mansfield.

PILOT BAILS OUT OF JET

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (AP)—Lt. Arthur C. Longmier, 26, Cleveland, Ohio, safely bailed out of an F100D Super Sabre jet fighter which crashed Friday near the John H. Kerr Dam in Southwest, Virginia.

Negro Family to Move Into City Despite Protests

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A Negro family prepared today to move into their newly purchased home in this all-white community of 50,000 suburbanites.

The coming of the Myers family to this planned residential section in southeastern Pennsylvania has brought protests from many homeowners a few nights ago. A crowd of some 500 gathered around the ranch-style structure, and rocks were hurled through the picture windows. Five persons were arrested for failure to heed police orders to move on.

In neighborhood meetings, on picket lines which formed in front of "the house," in stores and on street corners, people asked one another: "What are we going to do?"

The new owner of the house, William J. Myers, 32, an engineering degree, said quietly but firmly: "I bought the home and I intend to live there."

James Newell, a leader of the Levittown Betterment Assn., suggested "an orderly picket line in front of the house" to a crowd of some 500 at a backyard meeting.

Gov. George M. Leader has dispatched state troopers to the scene.

Career of Robber Repeated Failure

ELGIN, Ill. —John E. Aaldon, 55, has suffered a repeatedly thwarted career as a professional robber.

He and Ray C. Stevenson were seized in a running gun battle with police soon after they robbed the Elgin National Watch Company Credit Union of $4,177 Thursday. The money was recovered and they were charged with robbery Friday.

When arrested, Waldon gave his name as Raymond A. Parsons, but FBI sources identified him as Waldon. He spent nearly 17 years in federal prisons for attempted mail robbery near Onarga, Ill., in 1940.

In that project, he was shot and captured.

Another robbery attempt — last October in Maywood, a Chicago suburb, also was unsuccessful. He was captured by Maywood police trying to burglarize an apartment. Waldon jumped $10,000 bail after that incident.

U.S. Spy Testifies On Red Espionage

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the House Committee on Un-American Activities says "American counterspy Boris Morris has given testimony which might clear up important aspects of Soviet espionage in this country."

Morris, a Hollywood producer who risked his life in the Russian underground for 12 years, was closeted for three hours Friday in a secret session with a committee investigative team.

A committee spokesman said the closed talks were expected to continue today.

The spokesman said of Morris' initial "sworn" testimony: "It looks very encouraging at this point. Mr. Morris... may well provide the missing link in many aspects of domestic espionage by Russia in this country."

Morris, 62, is a naturalized American of Russian birth. His role as counterspy came to light with the breaking of the case of Myra and Jack Sobel and Jacob Albam, who have admitted spying for the Soviet Union.

Morris is scheduled to appear next week before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in Washington.

"He said, 'Gimme your money,'" she said. "I still had the pound box of salt in my hand. Without thinking I let fly with the box of salt. That must have surprised him because he ducked down and backed up."

Teacher's Salary 'Gimmicks' Rapped

CHICAGO (AP)—A teacher's union official said today that "gimmicks" are being used in public schools in efforts to avoid pay increases for teachers.

Television, teachers' aides, and the "so-called merit pay plan," Mrs. Florence Sweeney of Goose Lake, Mich., said are the gimmicks—devices "frankly and cynically designed to substitute for general pay increases."

Mrs. Sweeney, a vice president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, spoke at a meeting of the AFT executive council.

A past president of the Detroit Federation of Teachers, Mrs. Sweeney said that Detroit teachers were abandoning their jobs for higher pay work in suburban schools.

She said that throughout Michigan at least 11,000 teachers with "less than acceptable" qualifications will be hired during the coming school year.

"To meet both the immediate and the long range problem," Mrs. Sweeney said, "pay schedules must go up."
